Brazil and Bunge – Cultivating the Future Together

Bunge and Brazil have come a long way since the company planted roots here in 1905 with a wheat milling business. Today, Brazil is the world's fastest-growing agricultural producer, and Bunge is the country's largest exporter of agricultural products.

We are as committed to the development of Brazil's communities as we are to her economy. Whether it's through the Comunidade Educativa, which allows our employees to volunteer at local schools on company time; the Basic Education Incentive Prize, an annual award that recognizes innovative teachers; or the support of efforts to protect the ecologically rich Cerrado, Bunge is committed to creating a better future by partnering with Brazil's local communities.
